

MOVIE STAR AT THE LASALLE THEATER TODAY.

Max Figman in George Barr McCutcheon's stage story, "What's His Name?"

Theaters

AT THE COLONIAL.
The Gladys George dramatic stock company will continue their engagement at the Colonial tomorrow evening. They are presenting a well known comedy drama, "Tempest and Sunshine" and vaudeville specialties are introduced between the acts. The policy of the Colonial will revert to motion pictures as before.

AT THE SURPRISE.
A two reel Reliance drama entitled, "A Woman Scorned," is the principal feature of the Surprise program today. It is a story of the underworld, the faithfulness of a female crook and her final retaliation when she can no longer bear the insults of her pals. "The Mutual Girl" appears as a regular weekly feature and Norma Phillips, as the heroine, has some interesting experiences on top of the New York skyscrapers.

AT THE ORPHEUM.
Holiday crowds packed the Orpheum at all performances Thursday and were delighted with the original Chicago Tribune pictures of the European war. The many awe-inspiring scenes are authentic and were taken by the newspaper's photographer, frequently at great personal risk. The Belgian battlefields are accurately pictured and the many scenes of struggle and strife are very real. The destruction of buildings, the fleeing refugees and the many army scenes are terrible but interesting. Barto and Clarke, singing their own musical compositions are one of the hits of the vaudeville bill. The song of the blackface member of the team, "D-a-d-d-y" is original and full of melody and comedy. Armstrong and Clarke present a singing, talking and dancing act called "A Seaside Filtration." There are many bright lines and the dancing is a feature. A special act about an intoxicated man's home-coming troubles and the four Solis brothers open the bill with a musical act with xylophone playing as the principal feature.

AT THE MAJESTIC.
"The Model Girl," is the title of the musical comedy which the Majestic company began a week-end engagement Thursday. It is an amusing story of matrimonial complications and revolves about an irritable father who attempts to marry his daughter to a suitable husband. Many of the musical numbers are presented for the first time here and they scored an immediate hit with the holiday audiences. A number of elaborate settings and costume changes are provided for several of the song numbers. Eddy Wright pleases particularly with a new song, "All Dressed up and no Place to go." George Teate sings "If I Had Some One at Home Like You." W. H. Hall's baritone solo, "Forest Queen," is well liked and is presented with special chorus effects. Lucile Delmar and Nellie De Young introduce dancing specialties and the latter has a clever song entitled, "My Tango Queen." Tonight is amateur night at the Majestic and a number of local stage aspirants will appear.

"CABIRIA."
There is in "Cabiria," the stupendous photo spectacle by d'Annunzio that is being shown at the Oliver theater for five days having opened Wednesday, a tender love interest which starts at the beginning of the picture and is maintained all through the two hours and 40 minutes which are taken in exhibiting the picture. A little girl, "Cabiria," is rescued from sacrifices to the God of Moloch by a chivalrous Roman patrician. They are parted. She becomes a slave to the Carthaginian princess. The patrician goes to fight in the battles of the Roman republic. Nevertheless he is true to the sentiment which the beautiful little Sicilian girl has inspired in him. In after years he rescues her from the Carthaginian persecutors. He saves her from destruction and molestation at the hands of the furious high priest and finally, when the storm and carnage of this great epoch have cleared away, he takes the beautiful Cabiria, now a young woman, back to Rome as his bride.

"HELP WANTED."
Local theatergoers will have another opportunity of seeing one of the most widely talked-of plays written for the American stage in recent years, at the Oliver on Monday evening when "Help Wanted" will be presented. Jack Lait, the author and noted Chicago journalist, has written a story throbbing with the interests of big business and deals with a subject of universal appeal. The big message Mr. Lait had to deliver was the difficulties which young stenographers encounter when they leave business college and go forth to make their living in the busy, scrapers of most large cities of America. It is not meant that all girls seeking positions meet with the experiences that are graphically and realistically portrayed in "Help Wanted," but there is ample room for reform of such contingencies as are dramatically utilized in the story. Aside from its message of warning, "Help Wanted" is full of genuine drama and the ingredients of heart interest, along with
